

Kamon Chaiyasit, PhD, FACN. President of Integrative Nutrition and Herbal Medicine Association in Thailand. Dr. Chaiyasit holds a Degree in Food & Nutrition and Pharmacology from the top University of Thailand. He completed his PhD in Nutrition in the United States as a Fellow of the American College of Nutrition. Furthermore, Dr. Chaiyasit is a Certified Dietitian in Thailand. He works in the field of Integrative Oncology, Functional Medicine and Anti-Aging, and Regenerative Nutrition. With over 30 publications in international journals, Dr. Chaiyasit areas of research interest include the following: clinical nutrition and cancer, the role of medicinal plants in cancer and chronic disease, and pharmacology of phytochemical compounds. Dr. Chaiyasit is a program director of Integrative Functional Nutrition and Wellness

(IFNW), a training center for medical professionals and physicians in nutrition in Thailand. Additionally, he serves as an editor for the board of the International Journal of Experimental Dental Science. Dr. Chaiyasit is part of the committee board for the MS in Integrative Medicine program at a private university in Thailand. He also lectures at several universities and for the National Cancer Institute.